Features

Most of the micro contamination is entered restricted areas through people's shoes and equipment wheels, it carries a high rate of contamination by dirt and particles entering the vulnerable areas become a focus potential problems.

When particles are transferred into the shoes to the floor area can be passed to the flow of air turbulence generated by activity in the area, so to be in the air stream can be deposited in any area and therefore contaminate sensitive areas.

The way to control this type of contamination is the APPSMAT[®] Contamination Control, stopping before it enters sensitive areas and prevent contaminants from causing any problems infecting patients, medications, instruments, food etc.

The APPSMAT[®] Contamination Control Mat, High Tak comes in blocks of 30 adhesive sheets laminated on each other standing at the entrances and corridors of the various areas to be holding the particles of people walking over them and equipment to roll over them. Once saturated topsheet is discarded and a new sheet is exposed ready to again perform this decontamination work.

The box contains four or ten blocks of auto adherent to the floor 30 sheets each for a total of 120 or 300 sheets per box measures 18 by 45 inches. The duration of each leaf is about 6-8 hours depending on traffic of people, stretchers and equipment in these areas.
